U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
BIOLOGICAL SURVEY

GEOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION OF NORTH AMERICAN CEREALS

Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.,
January 4, 1897.

My Dear Sir:

Will you be so kind as to favor me with the names and post-office addresses of about fifty intelligent grain growers in the State in which you reside. These persons should be distributed over as wide a territory as possible. I have undertaken certain investigations regarding cereals for the United States Department of Agriculture, and desire these names for the purpose of sending out circulars, copies of which are inclosed herewith. I would also appreciate your filling out the blank form and returning it to me. While I realize that you are very busy, I trust that you will be able to comply with my request, at least to some extent. The information will be used only for the benefit of the farmers of the country.

Thanking you in advance for such favors as you may extend, I remain,

Very respectfully yours,

Inclosure:

C. S. PLUMB,
Director Experiment Station.
